

THROUGH OBJECTS

Nature back to Design Vol.1

"Through Objects dedicates most of its content exploring the notion of design as a narrative, and like narratives, objects offer different interpretations to users, according to their own references. By supporting various forms of interpretation, more personal and relevant ways of thinking about these objects arise. To enhance a growing creative involvement, Through Objects has been sharing an inspiring collection of stories and interviews from several designers around the world."

Rita Trindade, founder of Through Objects.

This first volume of Through Objects showcases a selection of 24 design objects ranging from furniture and lighting to textiles and home accessories. Each of the stories reveals captivating items from pioneering designers and creators, such as Nienke Hoogliet, Kaja Solgaard Dahl, Studio David Pompa and GT2P.

By highlighting the potential and beauty of natural materials, this book proposes a look at the future of design from a respectful and harmonious human/nature perspective.

ABOUT THROUGH OBJECTS

Design objects are the material result of different references and values: they want through their form, matter and identity, to evoke or erase memories, support or deny concepts. Keeping its primary focus on sharing thought-provoking stories, Through Objects dedicates its content exploring the different narratives behind design objects.
